

You have a choice. Choose audit innovation

Transcript

NARRATOR: Do you know which innovations are being used on your audit and how the results are benefiting your company?

Every audit has a unique path to the best quality and efficiency. By listening and taking the time to understand your business, our experienced auditors continually harness new innovations to create value for you.

But that's not the case with all auditors. You have a choice.

- You can spend hours providing information, or use automated data extraction tools and then put your time to better use.
- You can engage auditors who spend their time on manual tasks, or work with auditors who automate tasks to focus their time on analysis.
- You can be satisfied with results from limited sample sizes, or you can gain insights from tools that analyze your entire general ledger.
- You can struggle to keep up with the shifting competitive landscape, or you can stay a step ahead with personalized, live data on what's affecting your business.

At Grant Thornton, we have the deep experience and the latest technologies to streamline your audit, drive continuous quality improvement, and deliver actionable insights. We also understand that the most powerful tool in harnessing audit innovation to meet your needs is a meaningful, human conversation.

Ready for a tech experience that's about you?